

Solutions for “Parental Alienation” in the Family Courts

Dr. Childress & Dorcy Pruter

Dublin, Ireland – April 18 – 19, 2020

A Seminar for Mental Health Professionals – Legal Professionals – Parents

Dr. Childress is a clinical psychologist on the forefront of assessment, diagnosis, and treatment of attachment related pathology surrounding divorce and high-conflict families.

An attachment-based description for “parental alienation” is grounded in the established constructs of professional psychology – Bowlby, Minuchin, Beck, van der Kolk, Tronick – and returns professional psychology to the proper path for effective solutions.

Dorcy Pruter, CEO & founder of the Conscious Co-Parenting Institute has been on the forefront of developing direct and active solutions for the recovery of children from the complex trauma of “parental alienation” – successfully restoring children’s self-authenticity and healthy attachment bonding to parents through a 4-day workshop.

The High Road workshop is proven effective time-after-time in direct experience and research data, and the Custody Resolution Method is solving family conflict in the courts with data.
